Mayor demands to see meeting minutes, files

Mayor Beverly McAnally, chairwoman of the Downriver Community Conference (DCC), charges that she and Wyandotte Mayor James DeSana, were "tried in absentia" by the organization finance committee regarding alleged complaints that they entered Executive Director James Jones' office to look at files while he was on vacation.

McAnally admitted going to Jones' office with DeSana after hearing allegations that a private investigator had been hired to probe elected officials.

The DCC is composed of 17 Downriver mayors, supervisors and alternates and works to alleviate area economic, social and jobless woes. The incident apparently was spurred by DeSana, who reportedly received an anonymous packet of information in the mail claiming that elected officials were targets of probes dating back to 1988.

As DCC chairwoman she felt compelled, McAnally said, to respond to a board member's concern and "I felt obligated to act upon it."

"On April 10 I went to Jones' assistant's office and asked about the allegations. We were given access to Jones' office by his assistant Cliff Zanley, who remained outside the office even though we invited him in."

McAnally quoted Zanley as saying, "I hope you'll excuse me, I don't feel comfortable coming in."

McAnally said they opened the files looking strictly for the file tabs in question. "Finding none, we closed the files and locked the door. We did not look inside any of the file folders," she said.

We were told Jones would be back the following Monday (April 13), McAnally said, but when we returned that day we were told there must have been a mistake, Jones wouldn't be back for another week.

McAnally went on vacation the following day and didn't return to her Romulus office until April 27.

That is the day, McAnally claims a rush to judgment occurred among members of the finance committee, unknown to her at the time.

Jones reportedly said he was "hurt" the two mayors entered his office and searched his files while he was away.

Both she and DeSana did attend an April 29 meeting of the DCC executive committee and demanded the transcribed minutes of the Monday session along with numerous other documents concerning the American Consulting Contractor Inc. (ACC), one of the billing names of the Smith Security Inc. hired by the DCC to help in employee-related issues.

McAnally said she is seeking the files relating to the ACC involvement with the DCC and will "subpoena to obtain these records if need be."

McAnally said she will not be, "scared off in my effort to protect the integrity and privacy of the board members."

"I'm a widow and have lived a circumspect life and I am not afraid of such an investigation," she said. "But if someone is using DCC funds to investigate their employers, I want to know about it."

Firefighter referendum nears

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus Fire Department referendum to collect funds for operation and maintenance of equipment was approved Monday night by members of the Romulus City Council.

Because the referendum calls for a change in the city charter, the ballot proposal must be sent to Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley's office for approval and then Gov. John Engler's office for his approval and signature.

If officials at Kelley's office make any changes or ask for a rewording of the ballot proposal, the effort would be delayed.

Romulus City Clerk Linda Choate said she needs to have the approved proposal in the hands of Wayne County election officials 68 days before the Nov. 3 election.

The charter amendment reads, "In order to provide funds for the operation and maintenance of the fire department, shall the City of Romulus amend the Charter to raise a tax limitation that may be imposed for all purposes upon property in the City of Romulus, Wayne County, Michigan, by no more than 2 mills ($2 for each $1,000) of state equalized value for all property within the city to solely provide funds for the operation and maintenance of the fire department."

Members of the Romulus City Council approved the effort several months ago.

On Monday night, council members selected one of the various ballot proposals offered by city legal staff officials.

More school-city teamwork asked

This is the third of five articles highlighting backgrounds of local school board candidates and the issues they wish to discuss. Future stories will appear in upcoming editions of The Romulus Roman.

Romulus Community School Board candidate Debra Ann Hoffman, who has filed for school board financial and travel cost records, has yet to receive them from school administrative leaders, she said Tuesday morning.

The deadline under the Freedom of Information Act has not yet expired, she said, and she would rather study those documents before she offers any campaign stance on the school financial record.

Hoffman, who has worked for the city of Romulus for 17 years and currently serves as assistant financial director, said she questions the need for facsimile machines to be placed in the homes of all school board members during such a tough economic time.

"In the city government circles," she said, "we trimmed $1.4 million from budget requests and removed many vehicles and expensive election equipment from purchase consideration this year.

"I question the necessity of fax machine purchases at this time."

Hoffman said she first decided to get involved in the school board race after finding that her daughter, Jennifer, a Wick Elementary School student with a 4.0 grade average, had serious problems with the past Michigan Educational Assessment Program test.

"Our schools have not exposed the students to the many concepts required in such tests," Hoffman charged "and I feel that persons with over 3.0 averages should score well on such MEAP tests."

It just wasn't her daughter's test results, she said, that bothered her, but the fact that Romulus students as a whole finished almost last in Wayne County, "while the district residents pay one of the highest tax rates in the state."

Hoffman said she also is grieved to hear teachers tell local students that an "A" in Romulus does not compare with an "A" in Dearborn or other Michigan cities, when the students complete for college.

She claims that educators tell her that Romulus' curriculum is not at the same level as other schools.

On a more positive note, Hoffman said, she is anxious to assist in developing programs that will challenge Romulus students "desire to achieve" both in their studies and in the job market.

Hoffman feels to accomplish these goals a greater teamwork is needed between the city government, school district and business community.

An effort is being made this year to attract new development within the city, she said, and the city has pledged $17,000 toward that economic development effort. Another $15,000 has been pledged by the local Economic Development Commission and $17,000 is being sought from the school district. Additional funding is being sought via corporate gifts, she said.

School finance reform is becoming a hot issue statewide, Hoffman said, and she feels her experience working with citywide cutbacks could be a Marc Estermyer and Lori Davis became the parents of a son, Thomas Justin Davis, born at 2:41 a.m. April 9, 1992 at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Summer jobs offered to area young adults

Young adults looking for a summer job in western Wayne County will receive a helping hand with their search.

The Metropolitan Detroit Youth Foundation (MDYF) has been selected as the summer work experience provider for the 1992 Summer Youth program by the Wayne County Job Connection.

Recruitment efforts for the Summer Youth Employment and Training program have begun at MDYF. The summer youth program will provide short-term employment for youths 16 to 21 years old.

The major goals of the program include:

- Providing youth with a meaningful summer job.
- Assisting youth in developing and maintaining academic skills.
- Developing positive work attitudes and behaviors in young people.

The program is designed to offer jobs to those individuals who have limited employment possibilities, according to Dennis L. Gibson Jr., executive director of the MDYF.

"The young people will not only be employed, but will make valuable contributions through neighborhood beautification projects, health services and other programs that will enhance the community," Gibson said.

The average young person can earn up to $1,000 in summer income and provide a valuable contribution to the local communities. Most of the summer jobs will be offered between June 22 and Aug. 14. All the jobs will be based in

The new arrival weighed 6 pounds, 7 ounces at birth and measured 20 inches in length.

Grandparents of the infant include Susan and Rick Estermyer of Belleville and Harvey Davis, also of Belleville.

Great-grandparents of the baby are Ed and Vera Bortz of Belleville and Joseph and Jeanette Paruch of Dearborn Heights.

Body found in
trunk of car

The body of a man found in the trunk of a car parked at Metro Airport last Thursday has been identified as John El-Amin, 26, of Detroit. Drug officers also knew the victim by the name, John Journe.

The search of a 1989 Lincoln Mark VII was initiated by an anonymous phone call to Ferndale Police, a county sheriff's spokesperson said.

After a locksmith opened the car trunk in the long term parking lot at the airport, police found the fully-clothed body. The victim had been shot in the head.

Police list the shooting death as drug related.

2nd shooting
suspect arrested

Christopher David Thornewell, 21, of Detroit, was arraigned last week in connection with the shooting of a 81-year-old Romulus man last Christmas day.

Thornewell, who was charged with armed robbery, was the second man apprehended in connection with the shooting. The victim, who sustained a slight head wound, was treated at Annapolis Hospital.

The other defendant, Joseph Edward Birrell, 48, of Dearborn, has already been sentenced on charges of assault with intent to kill, armed robbery and felony firearms.

Police said the two men and a woman entered the man's home on Beverly Road (near Inkster Road) on Christmas day on the pretext they would help him fix his faulty furnace.

Instead they threw a blanket over his head, shot him with his own weapon, a 22 caliber Remington long gun, ransacked his home and stole money and other items.

The victim was able to free himself from bonds the pair had tied him with and then dialed 911 to tell police he had been shot and robbed.

Anti-crime
meeting slated

A crime prevention and security system seminar is planned May 18 at the Romulus Public Library.

The program speaker will be Nathan Sefcik of Guardian Alarm Co. The program will begin at 6:30 p.m.

The program will include a discussion of burglary statistics, proven prevention methods, neighborhood watch programs, criminals and the basics of security systems.

It will conclude with a question and answer period.

Blood drive set at Methodist church

A blood drive is slated for May 22 at the Community United Methodist Church, 11160 Olive St. (corner of Bibbens), Carolyn Landis revealed today.

The actual blood collection by the American Red Cross will take place from 2 to 8 p.m.

Reservations may be made by calling 941-3474. Walk-ins are also welcome, Landis said.

Persons wishing to donate a pint of blood must weigh 110 pounds or more and be free of hepatitis, diabetes and malignancies.

They must not have donated blood in the past eight months. Donors must be 17 years of age or older.

Persons taking high blood pressure may donate blood if their blood pressure is normal at the time they give the blood, Landis said.

Golf outing to aid
memorial

The first annual Romulus Rotary Golf Outing is slated for May 29 at the Willow Golf Course in New Boston.

The outing will begin at 8 a.m. with a shotgun start, rain or shine. The cost of the outing is $65 per participant and will be limited to 144 golfers.

Awards will be given to the top three teams as well as to the golfer with the longest drive and closest to the pin.

A meal and the awarding of prizes will take place at the Progressive Hall on Ozga Road in Romulus.

Students invited to arts camp

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Two Romulus Senior High School drama-music students, and possibly a third, will be attending an eight-week training session at the Blue Lake Fine Arts Camp this summer.

The first pair, Jacob Barron, a guitarist, actor and percussionist, and Julia Parrish, an actress and dancer, are slated to join in the intense theater-style camp setting on June 30th.

Both have won half scholarships for the camp. But within the next two weeks, Barron still needs to raise $900 and Parrish needs an additional $200 to cover the cost of the sessions.

A third student, Barbara Markowski, a singer, also included to attend, needs $900 to join in the artistic adventure.

Teddy Ostrow, Romulus Senior High School drama instructor, said the students were recently viewed by Brian Engler, Blue Lake administrator, at an audition at the school.

Barron and Parrish performed a comedy scene written by two members of the Monte Python group.

In addition, Barron sang the song Snoopy from the show You're a Good Man Charlie Brown and Parrish sang I Enjoy Being a Girl from the musical Flower Drum Song.

Mankowski also sang tunes from Little Mermaid and Les Miserables during her audition.

During the summer camp session the students will join in "Oliver, Godspell and the Michigan Dream musical segments.

Parrish, daughter of Patricia and Jerry Parrish of Romulus, is excited about the opportunity this summer, because she, "enjoys stage acting...and getting applause means a lot" to her.

While her ambition is to appear on New York City stages, Parrish said, she wouldn't turn down any movie offers.

Barron, who resides with his mother, Linda, and stepfather, Michael Baker, enjoys playing the guitar and singing "alternative music" the best. He hopes that the summer experience can also help with his dream to one day play for a band.

His current favorite band is The Cure, a group that sings mostly punk-rock songs.

3 candidates seek judgeship

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Two Belleville area attorneys have entered the race with the incumbent for a judgeship in the 34th District Court.

Robert Meston, who has practiced law in the area since 1976, joins fellow attorney Josephine Chapman in challenging incumbent Henry Zaborowski on the November ballot.

The jurisdiction of the court encompasses 144 square miles, which includes Detroit Metro Airport, the cities of Belleville and Romulus and the townships of Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron.

Plans to seek re-election to his fourth six-year term on the 34th District Court were announced by Judge Henry Zaborowski in mid-March.

Zaborowski, who has served as a district court judge for 18 years, is a 51-year resident of Van Buren Township. He attended Belleville High School and is a graduate of Detroit Institute of Technology where he received bachelor degrees in business administration and law. Zaborowski received his legal training from the Detroit College of Law, which he attended on a scholarship.

After earning his degrees, Zaborowski received advanced professional education in Comparative Judicial Study at Michigan State University, the Institute of Criminology at Cambridge University and the British Academy of Forensic Sciences, both located in England, and the National College of the State Judiciary at the University of Nevada.

Zaborowski is the former president of the Great Lakes Steel local union and served on the International Wage Policy Committee. As a practicing attorney, he represented Sumpter Township and the Romulus School District.

He is a member of the Suburban Bar Association, Michigan Bar Association, Florida Bar Association and the American Judicature Society. Zaborowski is admitted to practice law in all state courts in Michigan, including the Michigan Supreme Court, as well as the Supreme Court of the United States and the Federal District Court. He is also a former member of the Panel of Arbitrators of the American Arbitration Association.

The district court judge is a U.S. Army veteran and a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Polish League of American Veterans, Polish National Alliance, U.S. Power Squadron, the Masons and Shriners.

He is married to the former Patricia Ann Wilson and is the father of three.

Robert Meston, a graduate of Kalamazoo Central High School, attended Western Michigan University and received a juris doctor degree from the University of Detroit. His area of law practice have been family, probate, criminal, bankruptcy and real estate. In addition to practicing law in the district since 1976, he has also served on the mediation panel and as a small claims mediator.

"Each of our citizens deserves respect and consideration while in the court. The court demands respect from all parties appearing in front of it and each judge should grant people the same respect while they are in the courtroom," Meston said.

The 20-year resident of Van Buren Township is a member of a number of local bar associations as well as the State Bar of Michigan. He is also a member of the Kiwanis Club, Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, Belleville-Van Buren Democratic Club and a Belleville Area Little League sponsor.

Meston is married to the former Patricia Martin, a school psychologist in the Dearborn Heights school system. He is the father of three children, all students in the Van Buren Public Schools.

Josephine Chapman, a longtime Belleville resident, has a legal practice on Main Street. She is a member of the State Bar of Michigan and the Women Lawyers Association. She also is a member of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, Central Business Community, Belleville Music Committee, Belleville-Van Buren Democratic Party and the Democratic Party of Michigan.

A graduate of Wyandotte Roosevelt High School, Chapman received a degree from Eastern Michigan University before receiving a juris doctor degree from Thomas M. Cooley Law School.

Her areas of practice have been in family law, criminal, probate, landlord-tenant and real estate law. She has volunteered two evenings per month to serve as a small claims mediator in the 34th District Court and has recently been appointed to serve as counsel to indigent defendants. She also has been a referral attorney for United Auto Workers members.

"The courts reflect the values of a society and must deal with those that come before it with absolute impartiality and, regardless how lowly the circumstances of an individual may be, under the law, everyone must be treated equally," Chapman said.

Chapman said the personal bias of a judge, "should not influence the court's treatment toward any one individual."

Metro flight pattern decision in August

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Hundreds of area residents filled with "great frustration, extreme anxiety and outright anger" turned out Thursday at the Metro Airport noise abatement hearing conducted by the Federal Aviation Administration and threatened lawsuits, ballot revenge and even "civil disobedience" if they did not get some quick relief from the "intolerable level of aircraft noise."

Individuals unable to attend the hearing still have until May 26 to file their comments with the FAA on the noise issues and have them included in the final transcript.

The potential lawsuit was threatened by Dearborn Mayor Michael Guido, who said, "For more than 40 years Dearborn coexisted peacefully with the (Metro) Airport. That peace vanished in November 1989, when the FAA unilaterally and without prior notice or opportunity for public comment implemented revised traffic patterns...that dramatically increased aircraft noise over a large portion of our city."

Guido said he has requested Dearborn legal counsel to move to intervene in the Huron Township lawsuit against the federal government on March 18, "or to file a separate suit concerning the FAA's actions."

Guido said the Dearborn action, "will be filed within the next few days."

Two angry Westland citizens also spoke out against the constant noise problems facing area residents.

Norman S. Patalon stated he was speaking out on behalf of 172 neighbors, who signed a petition asking that Metro flight patterns be returned to the pre-November 1989 level.

Patalon charged, "Citizens in this community are beginning to see through the mind-games Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara is playing with those of us living in the cities surrounding Metro Airport."

He said the 172 signatures he collected were from only a three-block radius around his home.

"If I had the time, I could have easily gotten 10 times that number," he said.

Patalon challenged McNamara or Westland Mayor Robert Thomas, "to spend one evening with my wife and I...to understand the anguish this aircraft noise has created."

A second Westland resident, Jack Underwood, complained that constant air traffic over his home continually wakes his wife when she tries to sleep during the day.

"The airplane noise is so loud," he said, "it drowns out the sounds of the birds in my backyard and even the roar from my lawnmower."

Underwood said he and many of those attending the public hearing feel it is "an exercise in futility...since we can't get people, who can do something, to even listen to our complaints."

Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard, one of the many elected officials to speak out at the hearings, strongly urged that the FAA move quickly toward a policy of restricting flights from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.

In addition to making it all but impossible to sleep the night through, Beard complained, the constant roar of the planes disrupts local children's lives, affects marriages and negatively impacts job performance...not to mention the loss in property values."

Romulus Mayor Beverly McNally submitted an official letter stating,

"Additional efforts must be undertaken to reduce the off-site noise impacts of Metro Airport operations...including residential soundproofing, acquisitions and purchase assurance programs."

Congressman John Dingell (D-Trenton) citing what he called the "intolerable level of aircraft noise" that has impacted area residents for well over two years, also filed a letter asking the FAA to, "provide as much relief as possible from the burden of airport noise."

Numerous Dearborn residents, including two teachers, also responded to the session. One urged an official changing of the county name from "Wayne County to Plane County...or even better yet maybe Pain County, because that is what you are causing us."

Both teachers said if local representatives fail to respond to citizens' needs, perhaps residents might follow (Henry David) Thoreau's advice and begin a series of "civil disobedience efforts."

major asset to the school board.

Better schools will be a major element in the drive to attract new homes and businesses, she said, which will go a long way in solving some of the financial shortfalls in the school district.

Hoffman said the schools are sharing their facilities with the city for summer recreational needs and both sides need to build on that type of teamwork.

The growing technology program in Romulus schools is vital, she said, and hopefully will act as a drawing force for home buyers. But the school district needs to keep spending plans under control.

Figures on expected local growth outlined in the $45 million school referendum several years ago were high, she observed, and with all the state ordered cutbacks, caps and limits the school district may have to seek an increased millage rate in the near future.

Hoffman, 36, a Romulus native, is married to Michael Paul Hoffman. They are the parents of two children, Jennifer, 9, and Jeffrey, 6.

She is currently seeking a degree in accounting. She now is attending Wayne County Community College and later plans to transfer to Eastern Michigan University to complete her studies.

She graduated from Romulus Senior High School in 1974.

She currently is a member of the Michigan Municipal Finance Officers Association and the Government Finance Officers Association. She also has been inducted into Phi Theta Kappa, an honor society at the two-year college level. She currently is carrying a 3.5 grade average.

Hoffman revealed that her home on Pennsylvania Street will serve as her campaign headquarters and that the treasurer of her campaign is L. Donavon McGuire. At the beginning of the campaign Hoffman said she expected to spend less than $1,000 in her efforts to win a seat on the school board.

Hoffman said she has been endorsed by Mayor Beverly McNally and all the city council members except Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks, who declined because of her involvement with the schools.

Area children mauled by dog

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

First it was one bite, and now it's two.

The Wayne Police Department has quarantined a black labrador retriever which has bitten two children in the 5000 block of Niagara.

The most recent incident occurred April 27, according to Wayne police Lt. Dan Randall.

"The dog got out of the yard, and the owner saw it running down the street," Randall said. "A 4-year-old boy was playing in his driveway when the dog approached. The dog bit the child and ran."

The boy was taken to Garden City Hospital and was released. He received two lacerations to the head and a puncture wound to his hand. Randall said the owner was trying to catch the dog.

"The owners called animal control," Randall said. "They found the labrador in the neighborhood, and as they were putting the dog in the trunk, the owner approached the control officer and told him he wanted the dog destroyed."

The dog will be quarantined for 10 days, according to Randall. Police do not know why the dog attacked the child.

Sue Parker who resides next door to the owner of the dog, also had a confrontation with the animal at about 5:30 p.m. March 5.

"My 6-year-old daughter (Heather) was playing in the front yard as she often does with her sister," Parker said. "The next minute, my other daughter Nicole was scream-weren't any problems," Parker said.

The 6-year-old, who is deaf, received 35 stitches to her face and six stitches to the back of the head. She will need plastic surgery, according to Parker.

Wayne Police quarantined the dog for 10 days following that incident, according to Wayne Police Chief John Colligan.

"The dog was on the chain when the little girl walked in the yard," Colligan said. "The dog had all its shots, but it was not licensed. Had the dog been a stray and not had its vaccinations, we would have taken the dog."

The Parker case was reviewed by the Wayne County prosecuting office, however, officials did not believe there was substantial evidence for charges to be brought against the owner of the labrador, according to Colligan.

Once the quarantine is completed, Colligan said the labrador will be put to sleep. The Wayne Police Department is continuing an investigation in the incident.

Teen club opening ends in arrest of 4

Several arrests were made May 2 at the grand opening of the Grande Ballroom in Wayne on Michigan Avenue near Wayne Road.

About 12:30 p.m. police were called to the area following a report of an argument which got out of hand in the parking lot area, according to Wayne police Lt. Dan Randall.

"We arrested Manhal Knido Hwier, 19, from Detroit, for felonious assault to a police officer," Randall said. "He threw a beer bottle at an officer. Three others were also arrested, but they have not been arraigned yet."

The incident caused Wayne police to call for backup from three other police departments including Romulus, Inkster and Westland.

"About 4 a.m. we returned to the Grande Ballroom and made another arrest for trespassing," Randall said. "We are going to meet with the management of the Grande Ballroom to voice our concerns that we will not allow this kind of activity in Wayne."

This is the first teen nightclub in the Wayne community. Owner Skender Gocaj explained the reason for the disturbance was due to his decision to not allow a particular group of individuals in the establishment he believed were troublemakers.

"We didn't allow them entry into the building, and they started an argument so we called the police, and the situation was taken care of," Gocaj said. "Nothing occurred inside the building."

More than 400 teens and adults attended the grand opening May 1, according to Gocaj. About 250 visited the Ballroom on May 2.

"We gave out hats, t-shirts, bags and sunglasses," Gocaj said. "The radio station 96.3 will be back here this Saturday."

Gocaj explained to council members and residents prior to the opening of the establishment that he and co-owner Joe Rossi intended to have a place where teens can have fun and be safe.

The nightclub opens at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday for teens 13 to 18 years old. At 11 p.m. Gocaj said the 13 year olds will be asked to leave in order to adhere to the state curfew.

Teenagers 14 years old to 18 will be asked to leave at midnight.

"All the teenagers who come to the nightclub will be issued a photo identification," Gocaj said. "When it's time for the 13-year-olds to leave at 11 p.m. or those 14 to 18 years old to leave at midnight, we will make an announcement. If necessary, we will have our security officers escort those out who do not leave."

About 12 security officers are on hand if any problems occur, according to Gocaj.

"We didn't have any problems with the transition with the teenagers at 11 p.m. and

State plans road repairs

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

Western Wayne County residents will be able to enjoy smoother roads this summer as the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) continues a list of improvements to areas in Wayne and Oakland County.

Various road projects are expected to begin this spring, according to Brenda Peek, media specialist for MDOT.

"We have a number of projects which are continuing from last year as well as beginning this spring," Peek said. "The majority of the projects are expected to be completed by Sept. 30, 1992."

In Washtenaw and Wayne counties, I-94 will be reconstructed west of Rawsonville

Road to Shook Road through Belleville and Romulus. The work will include one-half mile of soundwall construction and landscaping on the north side of the freeway west of Shook as well as repairs and painting on seven bridges throughout the project.

Construction for this project begins this month. Traffic on the six-lane interstate will be reduced to two lanes in each direction. Lane restrictions will be suspended during the winter.

This project is part of an ongoing program to improve I-94 in Wayne and western Washtenaw counties and is expected to be completed by August 1993.

The Champagne-Webber Inc. of Fraser construction company was approved for the $15.9 million job.

A RED CARPET LEASE OFFERS MORE.

LEASING MAKES SENSE.

With a 24 month Red Carpet Lease, you only pay for what you use - only that portion of the vehicle's value that you use during the period of your lease. So now you can drive a better equipped new vehicle every two years.

NO RESALE HASSLE.

Leasing can free you from the hassle of trying to sell a used car or truck. When it's time for a new vehicle, there's no uncertainty about your vehicle's value, no advertising or the inconvenience of talking to numerous prospective buyers.

3-YEAR/36,000 MILE WARRANTY.

Your leased vehicle carries the same 3 year/36,000 mile bumper-to-bumper warranty* as a financed vehicle - reducing or eliminating unexpected expenses.

LOWER DOWN PAYMENT.

Leasing allows you to drive a new vehicle without a big down payment and frees up your credit for other purposes.

Monthly lease payment	$179.35
Refundable security deposit	$200

Tiger fans' faith remains strong

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Tiger fans were optimistic when the season opened one month ago, but, so far, the home team hasn't lived up to their high expectations. In other words, the Tigers are in the cellar, not in an ivory tower as the first 30 days of the season draw to a close.

Maybe, it was the cold weather that kept the team from getting "hot" on the field, or, maybe, it was as many fans predicted - the pitching just isn't coming through.

Here's the pre-season predictions of seven area residents:

• Nick Demetriou of Wayne predicts a battle between Toronto and Detroit but "if they (the Tigers) are going to win ball games, the pitching has to come through."

• Dan Calabrese of Canton Township foresees the Tigers in fifth place at the end of the season, who notes, "the Tigers don't have a dependable bull pen."

• Keith DeMolay, a Wayne-Westland School District employee, predicted a first for the Tigers "if their pitching comes through, and only if it comes through, will the Tigers have a chance at first place."

• Sgt. Don Gotham of Wayne foresees the Tigers no higher than third place "unless their pitching comes through."

• Chesley Odom of Belleville has high hopes for the Tigers to finish in first place, but "I don't see them finishing higher than third place unless their pitching comes through."

• Jim Rudorffer of Canton Township predicts the Tigers will finish the season in second place behind Toronto.

• George Williams of Inkster sees the Tigers ending up in the top position in their division. "They've got a good team this year, and a good chance to be winners," Williams said. The Sunday Eagle & Enterprise staff writer will be back in June to take another look at the predictions of local fans.

'Teacher of the Year' nominations sought

Somewhere, in the area served by Associated Newspapers is a very special person.

He or she is tall or short, blonde or dark, has either dark brown or some other color of eyes and may love sports or disregards them. The one characteristic sure to be found in this elusive personality is the ability to inspire and educate young people.

Beginning this month, we are accepting nominations for Teacher of the Year from students or parents in our area.

The rules are very simple. The individuals nominated must live and teach in the circulation area of The Belleville Enterprise, The Canton Eagle, The Inkster-Ledger Star, The Canton Eagle, The Wayne Eagle or The Westland Eagle.

The candidates can be elementary or secondary teachers and there is no other qualification other than the desire of a present or former student to bestow this honor based on the impact the nominated individual had on the lives of students.

To nominate a teacher, simply complete the entry blank which accompanies this notice and attach a letter telling us why your nominee should be accorded the honor of Teacher of the Year.

Deadline for entries will be May 28, 1992 and the winner will be announced in mid-June.

Mothers' Day tradition continues to bloom

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

The perfect gift for Mother's Day is one that fits all sizes, has no calories or cholesterol, brings enjoyment to mothers of all ages and is affordable for most any budget.

Roses on Mother's Day has been a tradition since Anna Reeves Jarvis founded the holiday in 1908. About 3.5 million individuals are expected to buy roses for their mothers this year, according to the Floral Index of Chicago, a consumer marketing firm.

Within the last 10 years, fresh cut rose purchases in the United States has doubled, according to James C. Krone, executive vice president of Roses Inc. in Haslett.

"Reasons for this increase, especially at Mother's Day, include the fact that roses are readily available and the cost of your gift can be varied to fit any pocketbook," Krone said. "You can purchase one, two, five or seven roses in a box or bud vase, or a dozen in an arrangement, to make the gift fit your budget. Often a single rose says more than a gift of multiple stems."

A rose represents a mother in a variety of ways, according to Krone.

"They are delicate like a mother," Krone said. "I look at a rose, and as it goes from a bud form to fully open, it covers the span of motherhood from the newest mother to the great-grandmother."

There are more than 40,000 professional florists in the United States. Most can make a rose delivery for a customer on a phone order.

Roses come in a multitude of colors ranging from the traditional reds which mean "I love you," to a wide range of pinks, peaches, whites, yellows and super fragrant lavenders.

"In addition, there are a number of bicolor roses offered that combine two different colors in one bloom," Krone said. "Most often seen in the market are bicolors that feature a soft crimson red with a creamy white, which in the language of roses says 'unity' or 'togetherness'."

When purchasing a rose, it's important to know that not all roses are alike. About 35 percent are imported from countries such as Colombia, Ecuador and Mexico.

Imported roses are often grown outdoors, and although they have large buds and stems, they may need special attention to ensure they open fully as their woody stems have difficulty taking up water.

Roses grown in the United States, on the other hand, are produced in completely enclosed, environmentally controlled, greenhouse growing chambers that ensure they arrive in the market at the peak of freshness.

"As it is difficult to tell where a rose was produced, it is best to order from a professional retail florist," Krone said. "They are trained experts in rose gift giving and floral design who can assure satisfaction. Of course, insist on roses grown in the United States for the highest quality."

Roses will remain fresh in a home or office between four to seven days. To receive the maximum enjoyment from roses, follow these suggestions:

- Upon receipt, make sure rose arrangements are full of clear water with a floral preservative.
- Keeping roses as cool as possible will help prolong their life. Place them in a cool, dark room at night, perhaps a bedroom, this will slow their development.

Zebras' streak ends at 5

Wayne baseball title express is detoured by Southgate Anderson

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Dave Vanhof almost single-handedly derailed the Wayne Memorial title express.

The premier Southgate Anderson pitcher fired a no-hitter at the previously undefeated Zebras and blanked them 6-0 in the first of a two-game Anderson sweep.

The two losses dropped Wayne into a three-way tie for first place. Southgate and Lincoln Park have joined Wayne at the top of the Wolverine 'A' Conference pack.

Southgate won an abbreviated 7-4 victory in the nightcap. The game was called in the sixth inning because of darkness.

The loss left Wayne with a 5-2 conference and a 7-4 overall record.

"I don't think anyone is counting us out of the title race yet," said Wayne coach Jim Chronowski, who is in his 21st season as head coach. "The talent in this league this year is pretty well spread around."

Chronowski noted, "The emptiness of Friday helped refuel the team's hitting for Saturday."

On Saturday, Wayne participated in the Redford Union Invitational where the Zebras scored an incredible 36 runs in winning two of three games. The Zebras launched the tournament with a 16-5 drubbing of Southfield, then humiliated Livonia Stevenson 20-10 before losing to Redford Catholic Central 11-6 in the championship round.

Wayne returned home with the runners-up trophy.

Chronowski went with junior right-hander Dave Hemry in the opener, and Hemry responded with a three-hitter against the Blue Jays of Southfield. The Wayne hurler fanned 10 and walked one for the victory.

Hemry received ample hitting support from his teammates, who pounded out 14 hits. Eric Bates, senior third leadoff homer in the opening inning. Marty Collyer chipped in two hits - both singles - and had two RBIs.

Wayne won a wild one from the Spartans as Bates accounted for four runs batted in. Wetmore collected a pair of triples, three RBIs, and also scored twice, while Rich Sypniewski had a double and single and three RBIs in three trips to the plate. Jason Overton and Tapp each chipped in with two hits.

Wayne had a 11-0 lead before Stevenson exploded for 10 runs in the third and closed the gap, 11-10. The Zebras then came back with three runs in the fourth and added a half-dozen more in the fifth to force the officials to evoke the mercy rule.

Catholic Central wasted little time against Wayne as it came up with five runs in the second to jump out to a 7-1 lead they never relinquished.

Bates was tagged with the loss, while Dan Gushoff, who helped his cause with a grand slam, was the winning pitcher.

Wayne got on the scoreboard in the second when Scott Goleniak singled home Wetmore, who had walked. The Zebras turned it into a 8-3 game in the third thanks to walks to Tim Mate, Todd Kempinen, Wetmore, Overton, Collyer and Bates' two-bagger.

Singles by Mike Martin and Wetmore plus a pair of balks opened the door to two runs in the fifth for Wayne.

Wayne is back in action today at 4 at Wyandotte. The Zebras were scheduled for a doubleheader on Monday and a single-game yesterday against Trenton.

Inkster karate expert honored

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Martial arts has been a part of Carl Tate's life "as long as he can remember."

First in Inkster, then in the Armed Services, now as a competitor and an instructor.

For the past two decades, the thirtysomething Tae Kwon Do 6th-degree Black Belt owner has been a tournament competitor.

Last year he was among the tops in the nation in Tae Kwon Do, the Korean version of martial arts or karate.

Last week, Tate traveled to Akron, Ohio to take part in a special ceremony. He was installed in the Tae Kwon Do "Hall of Fame".

"First, I was surprised, then very pleased with the honor," said Tate, a 1978 graduate of Inkster High. "Looking around the room and seeing all of those notable people in Tae Kwon Do during the awards presentations - it was like a dream come true."

Tate was presented with an impressive plaque which had inscribed upon it: Outstanding Achievement of the Year.

Also engraved on the plaque was the following: For superior leadership, teaching, performance and dedication in Martial Arts.

The 31-year-old Tate, who has been teaching martial arts since 1980, serves as co-chairman of the AAU National Executive Committee in the sport. Tae Kwon Do will be included in the Olympic Games this year as an exhibition sport. Four years hence and it will have earned full Olympics status.

Tate served in the U.S. Army for three years after graduating from high school. During his military stint he spent time in Germany where he was able to compete as a member of the Armed Forces team. That helped "fine tune" him for future challenges.

After returning to Inks-ter, Tate set up shop on Michigan Avenue. He is presently teaching the sport to youngsters at 27309 Michigan Ave.

"I have adopted the slogan of 'Say no' to drugs, and 'yes' to martial arts," said Tate. "I can't think of a better way than Tae Kwon Do to get kids off the street corners and doing something constructive and challenging with their life. This sport will train the mind and the body, and after each session a kid is too tired to get into trouble."

Ceremony tonight

Belleville to dedicate new complex

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Van Buren School District officials will join present and past school employees today at a dedication ceremony for the new Belleville High School track and field facility.

Ceremonies are planned for 6 p.m. at the high school, 501 Columbia Ave.

"Thanks to the school board and the people of this community, our kids have one of the best track facilities in the area," said Belleville High coach Dave Medley. "Because of the improvements, we will be able to host major meets."

"In fact, we have been designated as the host school for a Class A regional track championship, which will bring together about 20 high school teams at our school."

School officials said the cost to refurbish the old track was in the area of $200,000.

Belleville will host Southgate Anderson at 6 p.m. today for a Wolverine 'A' Conference meet. In the meantime, the Tigers snapped a three-meet winning streak, losing to Dearborn Fordson, 80-57. It was also the Tigers' first Wolverine 'A' Conference setback of the season.

Tigers are too fast for Fordson

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Injury-plagued Belleville still had enough to run past Dearborn Fordson last Thursday in a Wolverine 'A' Conference Track & Field meet.

Coach Sam Vicchy's runners chalked up a 92-36 victory over the Tractors to post their first conference victory of the young campaign. The Tigers were 1-2-1 heading into the Tuesday meet at Wayne. The Tigers will take on Southgate Anderson tonight for their next league meet.

"We have a couple of key members of this team hurting with injuries," Vicchy said. "Once they are 100 percent we should be all right."

The Tigers got an outstanding effort from Sara Bowers, who won the long jump with a 13-foot, 11 1/4-inch leap. Bowers also placed first in the high jump (4 feet, 10 inches).

Belleville had a double winner in hurdler Dorvia Thomas, who coasted to victory in the highs (19:03) and won the lows (55:01).

Belleville also competed in the Hillsdale Invitational on Saturday and came away with a bronze.

Lawanda Smith was the lone Belleville medal-winner when she placed in the 100-meter dash. She trailed gold-medalist Angela Wilkins, who posted the winning time of 12:52, and Ebony McClain, who was second (12:57) across the finish line.

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The weather gave the Romulus ball club a break on Saturday, allowing the Eagles to play their first game in nine days. And the layoff definitely showed as coach Don Foley's club split a pair of tournament games.

The Eagles committed nine costly errors in a 15-6 debacle to Ypsilanti on Saturday, however, they came back on the strength of Ron Yauck's five-hit pitching to humble Saline 4-1 in the nightcap.

"We hadn't played for nine days because of the inclement weather, and we were rusty," said Foley, whose team began this week with a 4-4 record. "I'm glad we got a break in the weather."

Romulus wasted a perfect 4-for-4 batting performance from Tim Dufore, who had a double and a pair of runs-batted-in in the loss to Ypsi. Teammate Charles Dudonis went 2-for-4 also batted in a pair of runs.

Dufore started on the mound and worked the first three innings and was replaced by Foley in the fourth frame where the Braves scored five times.

The Eagles grabbed a 3-1 lead in the opening inning, but Ypsi came back and tied it in the third, then exploded for five runs in the fourth to salt the victory away.

Yauck scattered five hits, fanned two and walked an equal number in picking up the win over Saline. Losing pitcher Chris Hesse surrendered nine hits and also notched two strikeouts in taking the loss.

After Saline took a 1-0 lead in the second, Romulus came back in its third with two-ways to put two big runs on the board. Don Zemke started the rally with a walk, stole second and advanced to third on a wild pitch, then Chris Evans walked and also stole second. Dufore's double scored both baserunners.

In the sixth, Romulus added two more runs on an Evans' single, followed by singles from Dufore, Dudonis and Mark Harden, who came through with a bases-loaded base hit.

Romulus is back on the diamond today, weather permitting. They will entertain Detroit Cooley at 3:30 p.m. On Saturday, the Eagles are scheduled to play in the Washtenaw County High School Classic. They'll face Ann Arbor Huron at 10 a.m. and then travel to Willow Run to meet the Flyers in a 12:30 p.m. contest.

Buccaneers draft ex-Robichaud star

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Tyji Armstrong, who helped build the foundation of an outstanding Robichaud football team, was selected by Tampa Bay in the third round of the National Football Conference draft.

The 6-4, 255-pound defensive end, who was an all-conference selection at the University of Mississippi last year, was "elated" and "overjoyed" for being picked so high in the draft, according to family members.

"We've talked to him," said Tyji's mother, "and he said that he is eagerly looking forward to playing professional ball. Obviously we are also very happy. It's a fantastic opportunity."

Armstrong is the first local football star to head for the pros in recent years. He has an excellent chance of making the Buccaneers, according to his former high school coach, Bob Yauck.

Tyji Armstrong

"Tyji has the ability and the talent to play professional ball," said Yauck. "And with more and more (pro) teams adopting the Washington style of going with tight ends, I have little doubt in my mind that Tyji will make the grade."

Armstrong starred for Yauck's Bulldogs for four years, earning Suburban Athletic Conference, All-Area and All-State accolades before going on to Iowa Central Junior College upon graduating from high school. He transferred to the University of Mississippi two years ago and started at defensive end where he was picked for all-conference honors.

Champs stretch streak

By DENNIS MANSFIELD
ANP Staff Writer

Plymouth-Salem, the defending Class A state baseball champs, played the role last week.

Coach John Gravlin's club swept all five of their games last week to climb to the top of the Western Lakes Conference hill.

On Friday, Salem narrowly escaped an ailing but upset-minded John Glenn, as the Rockets scored 5 unearned runs before the Rocks pitchers closed out the game for a 9-8 victory.

Don Hutchinson left the mound for the Rocks with a comfortable 9-3 lead after five innings. But Brandon Walton walked two and allowed four hits after a throwing error allowed the Rockets back within striking range.

However, Chris Tomas stopped Glenn in their tracks, allowing two hits but no runs, as he posted the save.

"We let them right back in the game," said Salem coach John Gravlin. "It was a lack of intensity on our part. It's also a tribute to John Glenn. They're the ones who hit the baseball."

The Rocks added to their success of the previous day with three victories during an invitational tournament at Monroe.

Chip Wadowski pitched a one-hit complete game to lift the Rocks past Taylor Truman, 2-1. Salem then dominated Livonia Franklin 13-1, but fell behind Allen Park in the championship round.

But the Rocks rallied as Hutchinson hit a two-run double in the seventh inning to tie the score, then scored the winning run on a grounder hit by Brandon Los for the 6-5 win.

Salem completed the five-game winning streak with a 14-4 victory over Livonia Stevenson on Monday. Tomas, who helped start the winning streak, got the win.

The victory on Monday boosted the Rocks' record to 9-2-2 for the season, and 6-1 in the division.

Track

"Fordson has a pretty solid lineup this year," Medley noted. "Our performances were decent, however, not good enough to win."

Belleville picked up seven of the 17 events with Curtis Lunsford and Alan Barnett accounting for five of the firsts.

Lunsford, a sophomore, placed first in the 100-meters (11.0), then led the field in the 400-meters (52.1) and culminated the afternoon with a 22.8 for a victory in the 200-meters.

Barnett, also a underclassman, dominated the shot put and the discus events.

The Tigers also received winning performances from Keith Jackson, who won the pole vault competition with a 10-foot, 6-inches effort, and from Mike Kendrick, who cleared the high jump bar at 6 feet, 1.

Earlier, Belleville competed in the Hillsdale Invitational where Barnett won a pair of gold medals in record-setting fashion. The Tiger junior had a put of 54 feet, 7 inches, which shattered the old mark. He also won the discus with a 143 feet, 1 inch toss.

"The weather was just horrendous," Medley pointed out. "Alan should better these performances before the end of the season."

Belleville was runnerup with Lunsford in the 400-meter. The speedy junior ran a 51.8 and trailed only Bobbie Robinson across the finish line. The Royal Oak Dondero sprinter won the gold in 50.5.

Belleville also was scheduled to run Tuesday at Wayne Memorial.

Lost weekend Rockets lose 4 of 5 games

By TERRY LYNCH
ANP Special Writer

The Westland John Glenn pitching staff may want to consider filing a lawsuit against the team for "nonsupport" after the team's anemic performance on defense last week.

The Rockets came up with the pitching, and that's about all coach Norm Hoenes' club managed to show as the Western Lakes Conference power dropped four of their five games last week.

On Saturday, Glenn managed to split a twin bill with Garden City, thereby salvaging one victory in the past five outings. The Rockets looked like their old selves in the opener, pounding Garden City into submission, 12-2.

But the Jaguars came back to take the nightcap by a 4-2 count.

The loss dropped the Rockets to a pitiful 3-8 overall mark, while they stand 2-5 in conference play.

In the first game against Garden City, Chris Kirhey worked five innings, giving up two runs on two hits to chalk up the victory. He also fanned five and walked four. The Rocket starter complained about his tightening arm late in the game and was relieved by Jaime Buford.

But Kirhey benefited from a rare display of offense from his teammates. Senior John Ward collected four hits in five trips to the plate, including two RBIs. Bobby Hayes chipped in two hits in three trips. He also knocked in two runs. Catcher Brian Tach also contributed to the victory with a pair of doubles.

In the second game, Greg Nesbitt got the start on the mound and worked 5 2/3 innings before Hoenes decided to replace him with Buford.

On Friday, Hoenes and his club had an opportunity to get a glimpse at the defending Class A state champ, Plymouth-Salem, and they managed to give them a battle to the end.

However, Salem survived 9-8, thanks to a six-run, second inning spree.

Glenn gathered goose eggs until the fifth when the Rockets managed to push three across, but the Rocks got one of their own to boost their lead to 9-3.

The Rockets erupted for five runs in the sixth, but that wasn't enough to erase the deficit.

Senior Aaron Scheffer took the loss, working four innings. He notched 10 whiffs.

Last Wednesday, Glenn played the role of perfect hosts and gave visiting Walled Lake Western a 4-2 conference victory. Ward, who started on the mound, pitched 4 1/3 innings.

The love of my life

By Susan Willett

We are madly in love. I admit it, I've never felt about anyone the way I care for him. His every desire, every whim fills me with an urgent eagerness to supply whatever he might want.

My devotion knows no bounds or physical limitations. At his behest, impossible feats become mundane for me. To please him, there simply are no boundaries.

And, he returns my affections, disdaining his mother and his father, just as the Scriptures advise, and cleaving unto his, um, well, er...grandmother.

So perhaps this isn't exactly what the Scriptures suggested, but my year-old grandson and I are the true definition of love. He is, in fact, just about the most wonderful thing that has ever happened.

And our growing relationship clearly defines the parameters of true and deep affection. As long as I keep plenty of cookies on hand, I am on the top of this child's hit parade.

Now, non-grandparents will not understand this ranting and raving about this child. They really won't. But fellow grandparents...well, nearly everyone of them is sitting out there smiling because they understand these emotions only too well. They too, know that no gift is too extravagant, no amount of effort is too much and no amount of attention is enough. They all know that grandchildren are the only compensation in this life for gray hair, sagging waistlines, aching feet and failing eyesight. They all know that grandchildren are a breath of spring air, no matter what the season and a return to a time of life when every joy was new and every experience full of wonder.

They know, as I am learning, that children are a blessing, a responsibility and a challenge. Parenthood is never easy, full of perils and doubts and the most educational and fulfilling experience that life can offer.

And grandchildren...grandchildren my friends, are pure and absolute love in very tiny packages given to us as a small taste of heaven.

Christopher's cookies

- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 cup vegetable oil
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 1/2 teaspoons grated nutmeg
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 3 cups all-purpose flour
- Sugar

In a measuring cup, mix the buttermilk and baking soda; set aside. In a large mixer bowl, combine the oil, sugar and eggs. Mix well. Add the buttermilk-soda mixture and blend. Then add the salt, nutmeg, vanilla and baking powder and mix again. Blend in the flour (the batter will be very runny). Cover and refrigerate overnight.

When ready to bake, preheat the oven to 400 degrees. For best results, use ungreased non-stick

Recipes from Burt Reynolds and the Folks of Evening Shade

They're going to make money the old-fashioned way. They're going to earn it.

Perhaps there is some common sense left in this world after all.

Take for example the people of Evening Shade, Ark. Yep, there really is such a place and people really do live there. This is the place made famous by the television series of the same name featuring Burt Reynolds, Charles Durning and Marilu Henner. Not only is there a real Evening Shade, Ark. it's a little town remarkably like the one depicted in the television series. People there seem to have been blessed with an old fashioned idea about how to achieve their goals. Oddly enough, they appear to think they ought to work for what they get.

The high school is sorely in need of a new combination gymnasium-auditorium and rather than appealing to the state or the federal government, the folks at Evening Shade High School have decided to attempt to earn the $350,000 needed to replace the present rock structure, no small task.

They have high hopes and they're not stupid. They decided to take advantage of having their town gently ridiculed by Burt and friends each week. The Future Homemakers of America chapter contacted Burt and the producers of the show and obtained recipes from them which they've incorporated into the Evening Shade Cookbook which they are marketing throughout the country at $5 a copy.

They claim to have sold nearly 70,000 copies during the past year, so they must be doing something right.

The recipes don't look too bad. They're down-to-earth, easy and include real ingredients rather than tree bark and oriental molds found in some of these celebrity tomes.

They got a recipe from Hillary Rodham Clinton, first lady of Arkansas and wife of the Democratic front runner for the presidential nomination. She offered her version of Chicken and Rice Deluxe while Loni Anderson appropriately enough provided instructions for cheesecake. Burt divulges his recipe for beef stew which also seems appropriate while Marilu Henner suggests a vegetable pate which sounds like a whole lot more trouble than it could possibly be worth.

But the recipes from the folks of Evening Shade are the ones which truly seem worthwhile. This is real food prepared by real people and it seems more than worth $5 to find out how to make Frog Eye Salad or Rhubarb Pudding Cake.

And, after all, it is for a good cause.

Burt's Beef Stew

- 3 slices bacon, cut in small pieces
- 4 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 pounds lean beef, cut into chunks
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 28-ounce can tomato sauce
- 1 cup beef broth
- 1 cup dry red wine
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 pinch thyme
- 4 carrots, cut up coarsely
- 2 stalks celery, coarsely chopped
- 4 large potatoes, peeled and cut into quarters
- 10-12 mushrooms, sliced

In a large pot or Dutch oven, cook bacon until light brown. Combine the flour and pepper in a bowl, dip the meat in the flour mixture to coat completely. Brown in bacon fat, turning often. Add a little vegetable oil if needed. Add onion and garlic and brown them a little. Add tomato sauce, broth, wine, bay leaf and thyme. Cover and cook slowly for about 1 1/2 hours, or until vegetables are tender.

Loni Anderson's Company Cheesecake

- 1 1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 3 tablespoons butter, melted
- 2 packages (8-ounces each) cream cheese, softened
- 1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
- 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel, or lemon juice
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup dairy sour cream or strawberry glaze

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Stir together cracker crumbs and 2 tablespoons sugar. Mix in butter thoroughly. Press mixture evenly in bottom of a 9-inch springform pan. Bake for 10 minutes. Cool. Reduce oven temperature to 300 degrees. Beat cream cheese in large mixer bowl. Gradually add sugar, beating until fluffy. Add lemon peel and vanilla. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Pour over crumb mixture. Bake one hour or until center is firm. Cool to room temperature. Spread with sour cream or glaze. Chill at least 3 hours. Loosen edge of cheesecake with knife before removing side of pan. Serves 12.

Strawberry Glaze

Mash enough fresh strawberries to measure 1 cup. Blend 1 cup sugar and 3 tablespoons cornstarch in small saucepan. Stir in 1/3 cup water and the strawberries. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils. Boil and stir one minute. Cool thoroughly.

Elizabeth Ashley's Upside Down Cocoa Cake

- 1 heaping cup flour
- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1 1/2 teaspoons cocoa
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 3/4 teaspoon salt

Mix all the above together and add to:
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons melted butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Place in an 8-inch greased pan. Make syrup to pour over batter.
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 cup hot water
2 tablespoons cocoa

Boil 5 minutes and pour over batter. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes.

The books can be ordered from Lita King, Evening Shade School Foundation, P.O. Box 36, Evening Shade, Ark. 72532.

YMCA honors 2 for service

By PATRICIA BROWN
ANP News Editor
and
By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

Two residents in the Wayne-Westland area were honored April 30 by the Wayne-Westland YMCA for their dedication and commitment to serving others.

Goudy, 80, has a long history with assisting the young and elderly in the Wayne Community. In 1928, Goudy became a fireman at the age of 17 while he was going to high school. "My father (Charles) was the fire chief at the time," Goudy said. "He remained the fire chief until he passed away in 1937."

In 1937, Goudy was appointed to the fire chief position. "We had only two full time positions back then," Goudy said. "There were also a number of volunteers."

Goudy retired as the fire chief in 1971. He recalled the biggest fire when he was the fire chief involved a flour mill on Sophia Street.

"It completely burned down," Goudy said. "It was on fire for about three days."

In 1980, Goudy was appointed to the Senior Alliance and continues to represent the organization.

"I'm also very involved with delivery meals for Meals On Wheels," Goudy said. "I really enjoy helping people. We are confronted with people who tell us how lucky we are to still be able to deliver meals and be active."

Goudy is very active with the First Congregational Church. In 1983, he was appointed to the Wayne Historical Commission.

"I became the Museum Director in 1985," Goudy said. "I really enjoy telling people about how Wayne developed."

For Westland resident Jo Johnson volunteering her time to community projects is something she does because she enjoys it.

Johnson is one of two residents who was recognized by the Wayne-Westland YMCA Thursday evening for all of her years of dedication to the community.

"Volunteering is a way of life for me," she said. "I feel kind of funny receiving an award for doing work I volunteered to do."

Johnson, who has lived in Westland for 30 years, first became an active volunteer when her five children attended Robert J. McKee Elementary School in Westland before the school closed.

She then became active in the Westland Youth Athletic Association (WYAA) and was the first woman president ever elected to the WYAA during the 1970s.

Johnson was instrumental in starting the first girls' softball league through the WYAA.

She is currently active in the Westland Historical Commission, she spends at least one day each week working with fellow commissioner

Ruth Dale at the Westland Historical Museum sorting through the archive room.

Johnson is also the founder of the Westland Cultural Society and a member of the Westland Cable Commission.

She believes that everyone should be involved in their community.

"My philosophy has always been that you do what you can to make the world a better place to live in," she said. "I like people and I like the community and by making the world a better place, you make the community a better place."

Police rule out foul play in drowning death

By DENNIS MANSFIELD
ANP Staff Writer

Police investigators have found no signs of foul play in the death of a 28-year old man found in the Lower Rouge River two weeks ago.

Keith Casey was found at approximately 4:30 p.m. at the Venoy-Dorsey Park, bordering the cities of Wayne and Westland. The body, fully clothed, was recovered by units of the Wayne County Sheriff Marine Safety Division after being spotted by residents of the Wayne neighborhood that backs up to the park and the river.

Units from both the Wayne and Westland police departments also responded to the scene.

"There were no signs of trauma and we do not suspect any foul play," said Nancy Mouradian of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. "They estimate the body was in the water from three days to a week."

Casey apparently was a drowning victim, according to a Wayne County medical examiner's report. Mouradian said it is still unclear where or when Casey entered the river. The incident remains under investigation.

"At this point, we don't have any last address for Casey," she added. "His family is from the Roseville area."

A spokesman for the family said they did not wish to comment on Casey's death.

Beautification award nominees sought

Beautification honors are slated to be bestowed on individuals and groups which have helped to improve the quality of life in the state.

Residents have until June 30 to nominate volunteers deserving of honors from the Keep Michigan Beautiful program.

"The program is designed to call attention to individuals and others who have accomplished outstanding improvements and/or beautification of their area," said KBM President Joseph Benyo. "Awards include the President's, Michigan and Distinguished Service plaques, the Award of Merit and Letter of Commendation."

Awards will be presented at the Oct. 15-16 Annual KMB Conference at Crowne Plaza Holiday Inn, Grand Rapids.

More Detroit suburban homeowners

When you want to reach Detroit's affluent suburban homeowners, you want to advertise in SPRING.

Because SPRING's audited circulation of 728,609 more than doubles the suburban daily circulation of either The Detroit News (288,960) or Free Press (358,553).

And that's not all.

According to the 1991 Belden study, SPRING reaches more of the affluent suburban shoppers who have more—and spend more.

- ▶ 182,800 more suburban homeowners than the daily News (88,500 more than the Free Press).
- ▶ 171,000 more suburban Do-It-Yourselfers than The News (89,400 more than the Free Press).
- ▶ 100,600 (and 52,800) more suburban linen and bedding buyers.
- ▶ 64,400 (and 31,000) more suburban buyers of major appliances.

Simply put, one order in SPRING delivers more.

Shouldn't you be advertising in SPRING more?

To get all the facts, call your SPRING representative.

Groups offer hints to make cars environmentally friendly

Sometimes, car owners may get the impression that their vehicles are an enemy of the environment.

Cars generate used motor oil, other fluids, batteries and tires that pollute our water and crowd our landfills.

Chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs) leak from our automotive refrigerants and may deplete the ozone layer. Gas-guzzling vehicles waste an important natural resource and car exhaust clouds the air we breathe.

It's enough to make the environmentally-concerned motorist put his car in the garage and hide the keys.

But you can have your car and protect the Earth, too. Here are a few things you can do to be an environmentally-friendly driver.

- Properly dispose of automotive fluids and parts. Many recycling centers and some automotive-service centers will accept used motor oil, anti-freeze, transmission fluid, batteries and tires.
- In particular, used motor oil has proved to be a problem, because of the amount generated by car owners.
- The U.S. Department of Energy estimates that 61 percent of do-it-yourself oil changers improperly dispose of their used motor oil. That amounts to almost 240 million gallons of oil dumped into the U.S. environment each year—the equivalent of 20 Exxon Valdez oil spills.

It is ecologically dangerous to spread used oil over the ground, pour it into sewer drains or place it in the trash—even in a sealed container.

One quart of oil can ruin the taste of 250,000 gallons of drinking water and create a film two acres wide on the surface of water, according to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

On the other hand, used oil can be recycled for various industrial uses of energy recovery. The used oil generated in the U.S. in one year would be enough to service 900,000 homes for a year, if burned for electricity.

The number of used-oil collection sites has grown in the past year, making it easier for do-it-yourselfers to find an acceptable place to dump their drain-pan contents.

Valvoline Instant Oil Change has more than 300 centers nation-wide that accept used motor oil. While it is the only national quick-lube chain that has actively solicited used oil, many independent service shops and retail stores collect used lubricants in their local areas.

For more information on

It is ecologically dangerous to spread used oil over the ground, pour it into sewer drains or place in the trash - even in a sealed container. One quart of oil can ruin the taste of 250,000 gallons of drinking water and create a film two acres wide on the surface of water.

used-oil collection centers, check with your municipal refuse department or community recycling groups.

- Recycle automotive refrigerants. Refrigerants for auto air conditioners are the leading use for CFCs which, when released into the atmosphere, are suspected to damage the protective ozone layer of the Earth.

Because of this danger, the U.S. and other nations have agreed to eliminate the use of CFCs by the year 2000.

Fortunately, an alternative is on the way: SUVA Trans A/C. It was unveiled recently by Dupont, the manufacturer, and IG-LO Inc., which will be an exclusive marketer to the automotive industry.

The new refrigerant, which uses no CFCs and does not contribute to ozone depletion, duced by fermenting grain, primarily corn. As much as 10 percent ethanol in gasoline is permitted by car manufacturers to extend gasoline and to make the fuel burn cleaner, thereby reducing air pollution.

However, ethanol in gasoline has been found to contribute to vapor lock and hot-starting problems, so keep a watch on how well such fuel does in your car.

And be on the lookout for other alternative fuels and power sources-- including methanol, natural gas, propane, electricity and solar energy--which are being tested.

- Develop fuel-conserving habits. The first step is choosing a fuel-efficient vehicle. Fuel-efficiency ratings are posted on the price stickers of new cars and are also available from the manufacturers and the federal EPA.

When driving, accelerate gradually, maintain a steady speed and avoid sudden stops and starts.

Coast to stops when possible. Limit use of electrical systems, such as air conditioners, stereos and power windows.

And keep your car well maintained. Keeping your car washed and waxed will make it more aerodynamic. Properly inflated tires will reduce drag on the engine. And use an energy-conserving motor oil.

Valvoline makes oils in several viscosity grades that will provide up to 2.7 percent better fuel economy over regular motor oils. These oils are marked as "Energy Conserving" or "Energy Conserving II."

- Drive as little as possible. This may seem impractical to even the most ecologically minded motorist, but there are some simple tactics to accomplish this without too much inconvenience.

Plan your trips to take the most direct route, or the one with the fewest stops. Avoid construction zones and heavy traffic areas that require idling for long periods.

And combine trips as much as possible. Stop by the store on the way home from work, rather than making an extra trip out in the evening. Or select a dry cleaner next to your grocery store to knock off two chores with one stop.

Finally, consider public transportation and car pooling whenever possible.

These steps are just a small part of what's necessary to save the Earth from environmental threats. But with a little extra effort, we can continue to drive and have a world worth driving in.

Leasing may provide best vacation vehicle

Not looking forward to that upcoming road trip in your cramped subcompact?

Why not rent something more spacious—something that will allow the family to travel in style? The rental car industry is eager to woo you and your vacation dollars with special travel packages, a variety of rates and a wide fleet of autos to choose from—everything from sporty convertibles to minivans.

The following are a few tips for renting a car to drive on your next road vacation.

First, decide the type of car you need, taking into consideration the number of passengers and amount of luggage you'll be hauling. When discussing the terms with your rental agent, refer to specific makes and models, rather than using generic descriptions such as economy or midsize, so you know exactly what you're getting. Once you get your car, make sure all systems are go before driving off the lot.

When you begin your search for a rental car, take along your calculator. Some agencies will quote an all-inclusive price that won't change regardless of the miles you log on the odometer. Others, meanwhile, require a flat rate plus a charge for mileage. Decide which is the best deal based on your travel plans.

Make sure both you and your rental car agent are talking about the same time period when you're gathering quotes, and inquire about penalties if the car is returned early or late. Since rental companies operate on a 24-hour basis, find out exactly what time next-day charges go into effect.

Take time to read your contract, keeping an eye out for hidden charges. Is there, for instance, an extra drop-off fee if you return the car to a location other than the pickup point?

Car care begins at purchase

- Read your owner's manual. It's always nice to know what the manufacturer suggests about certain things, so you can compare that with what a shop manager or technician tells you.
- Start looking for a shop before you need one. Desperate times are not good times for shopping around.
- Ask your friends. Word of mouth is the strongest tool for finding a good mechanic and avoiding bad ones.
- Give a new shop a minor job to do. Don't start strangers off on something vital to you.
- Once you arrive at the shop, look around.
- A professionally managed shop is clean.
- Professional mechanics are busy. If they're not fixing cars at the moment they're cleaning work areas or servicing their tools so that they'll be ready to fix cars.
- Professional service advisors are courteous and attentive. They ask questions about your car troubles and they're quick to answer questions.
- Look for documented evidence of competence. State certification of mechanics isn't all that is meaningful—if the state requires it, they'll all be certified.

Thieves take piece of history

A brass commemorative plaque at the site of one of the first schools in the area has been chiseled out of a brick wall and stolen, according to the owner, Glenn Shaw Jr.

The plaque, installed in a wall at the Cady Center, a shopping plaza at the southwest corner of Cherry Hill and Wayne roads in Westland, was removed some time last week. Shaw had the plaque installed at the site where Cady School stood for more than 110 years, serving the original residents of what became Nankin Township as a one-room, log cabin schoolhouse and then expanding into an elementary school teaching children in grades one through sixth as a part of the Wayne- Westland school district.

"This was a historical marker," Shaw said. "Many, many first families sent children here to learn and then, in later years, others came to school here. I went to grade school at Cady, so it also had great sentimental value for me," he added.

Cady School was founded and operated by the Samuel Pratt Cady family on their farm in 1867. Enrollment in the Cady School District continued to expand until, in 1922, the student body totalled 46 students and four rooms were added. The school became part of the Wayne Public School District in 1947 and later, part of the Wayne- Westland schools. The building, considered inefficient and obsolete, was demolished in 1978 to make way for the construction of a bank.

Shaw acquired one of the bricks from the school and when the property behind the bank which was once on the school grounds became available, purchased the land for the shopping plaza.

He installed the original brick, inscribed with the word "Cady" and the plaque, commemorating the history of the land and the school when the Cady Center first opened in November of 1985.

The marker remained undisturbed until the recent theft.

"I just want it back," Shaw said. "It meant a great deal to many people who have a sense of history and respect for the past. There will be no questions asked. I just want it back. What they've stolen is history. It cannot be replaced."

Glenn Shaw, Jr. proudly displayed the commemorative plaque at the opening of Cady Center in 1985.

baking sheets. Use 1 heaping tablespoons of batter per cookie and place on the sheets. Liberally sprinkle more sugar on top of each cookie. Keep batter refrigerated between bakings. Bake for just 5 minutes. The cookies should be just barely done—still almost white. If golden, you left them in too long. Remove from the oven and allow the cookies to remain on the cookie sheets for 3 minutes to continue baking. Remove and cool. These are soft, cakelike cookies—perfect for squeezing in tiny fists and throwing at unsuspecting grandfathers.

- 5-Speed Manual Transaxle
- Power Steering
- Dual Electric Remote Mirrors
- AM/FM Stereo with Clock
- Rear Window Defroster
- And More

A RED CARPET LEASE OFFERS MORE.

LEASING MAKES SENSE.

With a 24 month Red Carpet Lease, you only pay for what you use - only that portion of the vehicle's value that you use during the period of your lease. So now you can drive a better equipped new vehicle every two years.

NO RESALE HASSLE.

Leasing can free you from the hassle of trying to sell a used car or truck. When it's time for a new vehicle, there's no uncertainty about your vehicle's value, no advertising or the inconvenience of talking to numerous prospective buyers.

3-YEAR/36,000 MILE WARRANTY.

Your leased vehicle carries the same 3 year/36,000 mile bumper-to-bumper warranty* as a financed vehicle - reducing or eliminating unexpected expenses.

LOWER DOWN PAYMENT.

Leasing allows you to drive a new vehicle without a big down payment and frees up your credit for other purposes.

$180
per month
for 24 months

Monthly lease payment	$179.35
Refundable security deposit	$200
Down payment	$787.00
Total cash due at lease inception	$1,166.35
Total amount of monthly payments	$4,304.40

Now you can drive a new Ford Escort every two years.

See Your Metro Detroit Ford Dealer.

* See your dealer for a copy of this limited warranty.
 Lease payment is based on an average capitalized cost of 90% of MSRP on Ford Escort LX with PUP pkg. 12V. Lease payment includes destination charges, but excludes title and taxes and is based on a closed-end 24 month Red Carpet Lease from Ford Credit. Lessee may have the option but is not obligated to purchase the vehicle at lease end at a price to be negotiated with the dealer at lease signing. Lessee is responsible for excess wear and tear and $.11 per mile for mileage over 30,000. Lease delivery from dealer stock by 5/30/92.
Total cash due at lease inception includes security deposit. First month lease payment and total down payment are shown on lease form.
